INTRODUCTION

Social work has always been an integral part of every human society. However, the concept of social work has evolved over the years and continues to evolve in keeping with changing human and social needs and situations. Social work today does not mean only charity or philanthropy. It has been accorded the status of a profession like any other helping professions and is practiced in a systematic and methodical manner. Social Work as a profession is being increasingly recognized as a core profession in the process of human and social development.

The scope of social work is in keeping with the functions of the Modern Welfare State. Hence professionally trained and qualified social workers are increasingly in demand for holding responsible positions in government and non-government organizations working in the field of individual, family, community and social development.

Professional social workers require sound knowledge and value base, conducive attitudes and appropriate skills. Appropriate application of scientific knowledge and skills with a sound foundation of values is essential in the entire process of social work training, education, practice and research.

Social work as a professional activity attempts to enable individuals, families and communities to satisfy their needs and resolve their difficulties, preferably, in their own cultural and social milieu and concentrated efforts are made to minimize the barriers which tend to prevent people from achieving the best of which they are capable.

In order to be able to face a variety of challenges, professional social work has a very systematic, well-developed, rigorous and demanding training programme. Over the years training in Social Work has assumed increasing importance and relevance as it is being recognized that a basic aptitude for helping people can be furthered, directed and molded in order to ensure one's development as an effective professional social worker. Training in social work is best received by an open mind since the aim and the focus of training is on the development of a healthy and mature professional personality in order to appropriately meet the demands of the social work profession.

A demand for trained social workers in various fields is continuously on the increase and newer avenues are being opened where human help is needed for dealing with difficult human situations. The training programme therefore emphasizes development of efficient and competent professionals.

Karve Institute of Social Service was established on 9th November 1963 in commemoration of the great work done by Bharat Ratna Maharshi Dhondo Keshav Karve. The Institute has entered its 50th year on 9th November 2012 and continues striving to provide service to society and impart training to aspiring social work professionals and a variety of functionaries working in the field of social development
